

On the first day of my new life I walked into class with my son's hand me down back pack. I sat